MILFORD STIRRED BY BRUTAL CRIME

Horwiths, Who Cut Down
Guest With Axe, Are Held.

WOMAN IS SAD SPECTACLE

Forced to use an axe on his former friend in order to prevent himself being choked to death was the only reason that could be obtained from David Horwith, of Milford, for the frightful brutality executed with that weapon on the head of John Farrell of the same town yesterday. Farrell is in the New Haven hospital at death's door. Horwith, with his wife, is under sentence of thirty days for drunkenness in the Milford jail. His wife's sentence was imposed by Judge Hepburn this morning so that the authorities may have time to investigate the case.

There is still a fourth witness to the attempted murder, one Charles Johnson, who has been working about the Merwin Oyster Co., in the capacity of a deck hand. It was he who gave the alarm.

The facts of the case are enshrouded in mystery. Farrell, who was conscious this morning for a short time and blamed Horwith for the deed, would say but little, only intimating that he acted in self defense. Yesterday morning Farrell, who is known as "Brick" about Milford, and has an unsavory reputation, went the rounds of the saloons in Milford with Johnson, and then went out to Farrell's friend Horwith's house, a sort of rendezvous of the undesirable characters of the little town. Both men were pretty well inebriated when they arrived, and Horwith's explanation that he was called names and abused by Farrell is plausible.

Shortly after 2 o'clock Johnson rushed into the street and cried murder. Constable Joseph Bristol was attracted and going into the house cornered Horwith and his wife. Constable Malory arrived directly after Bristol and took charge of the injured man. He was placed in an auto and rushed to New Haven.

The Horwith house was in a state of disorder. In the kitchen, the bloody axe on the floor. The room was covered with pools of blood and evidences of a struggle between the men was plainly seen. Whether or not Horwith and his wife expected that by staying at the house they could place the blame on Johnson is not known. The latter made good his escape and not a clue has been found to aid in locating his whereabouts. Johnson hails from New York, and it is thought that he has returned to that city.

In the town court of Milford this morning, held in the town hall, Mrs. Horwith was called before Judge Hepburn. Omar Platt prosecuting for the state. She was the picture of dejection. Her dress, a long dirty black affair, hung from various points of her waist and her torn shirt gave her a repulsive appearance. She apparently represented the lowest dregs of humanity. When charged with the crime she simply remained silent. It is believed that Farrell will die.

Stratford Takes Burden Off Bullock

Charles H. Welles, first selectman of Stratford, today notified Sup. Brennan of the Charities Department that he would take charge of Helen Bullock, the woman who was brought to this city by the Rev. Charles S. Bullock of Stratford. Selectman Welles will advance the money today, and the amicable settlement will probably end the idea of prosecuting the Rev. Mr. Bullock for molesting a pauper of another town on the charity of this city.

MARRIAGE LICENSE ISSUED.

John H. Stickney of Cottage street, and Grace E. Kirk were issued a marriage license at the town clerk's office yesterday afternoon.

GOVERNOR VETOES SALOON BILL

House Passes Measure Enabling Merchants to Keep Open Christmas Week.

(Special from United Press.) Hartford, July 29.—Governor Weeks today sent to the House his veto of the law permitting county commissioners to license a saloon within 200 feet of a church if the place had been licensed during the past year in which licenses were legal.

The House spent more than an hour in thrashing over the bill providing that fifty-eight hours per week be the unit of labor for women and children instead of ten hours a day as at present, and finally passed the measure in the same form in which it came from the Senate, allowing merchants to remain open more than ten hours a day during Christmas week, but not later than ten o'clock at night.

HARTRIDGE HELPS HARRY K. THAW

Testifies that He Did Not Sanction or Order Big Hush Money.

(Special from United Press.) Court House, White Plains, N. Y., July 29.—That Harry K. Thaw did not sanction or order vast expenditures of "hush money" to 200 girls mentioned by Mrs. Susan A. Merrill was admitted today by Clifford W. Hartridge, former attorney for Thaw, who was on the stand all the morning at the Thaw case.

Hartridge explained today that he couldn't find the books and believed they had been lost. He admitted, however, that of the money he said to have paid as "hush money," "only a very small sum" was paid at Thaw's request and this was paid to Mrs. Merrill herself and not to any other girls.

Susan A. Merrill who took the stand at the opening of the afternoon session, told more, under the guidance of Justice Mills, of the alleged whipping of young girls by Thaw. "When Thaw left after I discovered him whipping the girls," she said, "he left money with me for other girls. I remember three girls that he whipped."

Sheriff Attaches Greisinger Establishment, Which Did Fashionable Business.

Deputy Sheriff Peter Doolan has attached the fashionable millinery establishment of Greisinger & Co., in Stratford, at the corner of Main street to the amount of $350 in favor of the James G. Johnson Co., millinery distributors of New York.

One of the owners, Mrs. Greisinger, who was well known in the town, just past Mrs. Greisinger obtained a divorce from her husband on statutory grounds, since which they have dissolved partnership. Mrs. Greisinger is conducting the business. Later she sold half an interest in her business to Mrs. Rosa Reich, proprietress of the White House Clothing Co.

Sprinkler Tip Comes Off; But No Fire

The sprinkler system in the West End plant of the Crane Valve Co. went off this morning shortly after 11 o'clock and one of the employees working near the plant lost no time in sending in an alarm over the auxiliary system connected with box 174. When the department arrived there was no fire in sight, if there had been any.

The tips of the sprinkler system are very sensitive and the officials of the factory are of the opinion that the fire was a fire of small proportions in progress and that it was drowned out by the sprinkler. The only damage was done by water and that was very slight.

Immense Saletao kao kao aikakokoi TEN PERFECT SCORES WITH GLIDDEN TOURISTS.

(Special from United Press.) Oakleigh, Kas., July 29.—Only ten cars had perfect scores when the Glidden tourists resumed their journey yesterday played havoc with springs and their parts. The Maxwell run about broke a spring, drawing 7½ points penalty. The Glidden No. 19 and Mason No. 112 were penalized for delay at the checking station. The Thomas 11, Glidden cup car, broke a sub-frame when it went into a ditch and the engine was knocked out of alignment. A Studebaker car driven by Harry McIntosh went into a ditch 2½ miles from Hugo and broke a wheel.

HOUSEHOLD NOTES

Keep a bowl of cold water at hand into which to dip the fingers frequently when hulling or capping fruit for preserving.

To get rid of rats, stuff their holes with laundry soap which has been liberally sprinkled with cayenne pepper.

For a refreshing dessert, partly fill sherbet glasses with vanilla ice cream. Put over each service a spoonful of very sweet current jam and cover with a pyramid of whipped cream.

Excellent butter may be made in a small cream freezer, but care should be taken that there is not a particle of rust in the can, and it should be polished until it shines.

When cold halibut is left from dinner cut it into pieces large enough for individual plates, put them on salad plates with slices of tomato and green pepper and serve with mayonnaise.

Washing lamp chimneys by immersing them in water often makes them brittle. A safer way to clean them is to hold them for a few minutes over a steaming kettle, and then polish briskly with a soft cloth.

If a hardwood floor is sticky after being treated with boiled oil and turpentine, get a pail of strong cider vinegar, wring a cloth out of this and wipe the floor with it. It will cause great improvement.

If ham that is to be broiled for breakfast is allowed to soak over night in milk it will have a delicious sweet flavor. If not too salty the milk need not be thrown away, but may be thickened and used for gravy.

To clean suede gloves, put the gloves on "trees" or your hands and rub them well with fine oatmeal, which should finally be brushed off with a fine nail brush. Any obstinate stains may be removed with benzine, applied with a piece of flannel.

POLYGLOT OOP

Superintendent Birmingham Would Put An End to Frequent Murderous Rows of Late.

The attempt to use a knife on Meyer Kaplan by Antonio Pictor, an Italian, over a very trivial affair resulting in Kaplan's being injured in avoiding his assailant, led Superintendent of Police Birmingham to express himself forcibly on the subject of the proper policy of the foreign settlements in this city. He referred especially to the colonies on the East Side just south of the Woodstock and in the West End below Railroad avenue.

"There should be on the police force of this city," said Supt. Birmingham, "at least two men of every different nationality of large representation in the town who should work among their people in the sections of the city where they have concentrated themselves. They would have to be men of sterling ability, reliable and fearless. Any man with the white feather among them would be a disgrace to the police force. These places would be better off were they dropped into the harbor. Petrosino was a man of the type we should try to duplicate."

If we had such men the preservation of order among these people next to impossible to ferret out the criminals among the people of those settlements, and it is not until after the crime has been committed can we get hold of the man who has always carried weapons. If they were aware that the police were clearly in the neighborhood looking for their knives ever ready would soon cool off and the stabbing and shooting would soon be a rare occurrence."

The attempt of Kaplan was but one of the several affairs in the city in the past week. In all instances the result of a crime been clearly the result of a quick temper and having on hand of a dangerous weapon. It is probable that the police commission's suggestion and take steps to have men suited to the conditions of the people among whom they expect to quell crime.

Breach of Promise Suit for $2,500 Settled for $100 as Contestants Eyes Meet.

A breach of promise to marry caused Miss Belle Mayer to institute proceedings against Paul Horvath to-day. Through her attorneys, Shapiro & Shapiro, she sued for $2,500, which she thought would just about satisfy her wounded heart. Paul Horvath, who runs a bicycle store on Pine street, next door to the boarding establishment of Miss Mayer, was served with a body attachment by Sheriff Peter Doolan.

Horvath faced the predicament of going to jail unless he could produce $2,500. After taking an inventory of his cash account about $128 was all he could show at $2,500, which she thought would just about satisfy her wounded heart.
